Moondog Digital Receives Integrated Partner Status from Industry Leader Crestron Electronics

Indianapolis, IN – July 14, 2008 – Moondog Digital has been accredited by Crestron Electronics for their Integrated Partner Program.

Crestron Adagio custom installers can now send music collections to Moondog Digital for loading directly onto an Adagio System, external USB hard drive, or DVDRom discs. With a central location, eighty percent of the US is within 3 days of shipping.

“The Crestron Adagio Audio Server is an industry-leading product and we’re happy to be associated with it,” said Craig Kelker, President of Moondog Digital. “Crestron projects are generally multi-faceted, so we are happy to alleviate work for installers. Crestron installers can better spend their time with the client versus sitting in front of a CDRom tray.”

Moondog Digital tailored their CD data grooming process to deliver the optimal digital music library for the Adagio Audio Server. “Through testing we have been able to determine the best way to structure the CD information for display,” said Kelker. “Additionally, our CD Ripping and DVD processing application, RoboStation, will receive the same ability. All customers of our hands-free ripping software will receive this functionality in the next few weeks.”

“We welcome Moondog Digital into the family of Integrated Partners.” Says Chris Wildfoerster, Director Business Development for Crestron, “Digital entertainment is here to stay and Moondog Digital’s service offers our dealers a reliable way to import their music collection into a Crestron system.”
